Dr. Van-Nhan Luong: A Visionary Leader

Dr. Van-Nhan Luong brings a wealth of experience from both the UK and Vietnamese education systems. His journey began in Vietnam, where he spent five formative years teaching at various levels, from secondary school through to university. In 2011, Dr. Luong embarked on a new chapter, pursuing his PhD and postdoctoral research, then teaching at several prestigious UK institutions, including the University of Southampton, the University of Sheffield, the University of Liverpool, the University of Birmingham, Aston University, the University of Northampton and Durham University.

This unique dual experience has given Dr. Luong a profound understanding of the strengths and needs of both education systems.
